

Are You Thinking About A Graduate Degree in Neuroscience?

If so, make plans to attend the:

Neuroscience Graduate School Forum

The Essential Guide to Graduate Schools in Neuroscience

Thursday, November 29, 2007

Emory University, White Hall 206

6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

Meet with Atlanta area admission advisors!

Talk with current graduate students!

Eat dinner! (Dinner is free, but you must RSVP.)

PARTICIPATING SCHOOLS:

Emory's Graduate School in Neuroscience, through the Department of Biological and Biomedical Sciences: <http://www.emory.edu/NEUROSCIENCE>

Georgia State University's Neurobiology & Behavior in Biology:
<http://biology.gsu.edu/graduate/PhD/nb/program.html> and the Neuropsychology and Behavioral Neuroscience in Psychology Department:
<http://www2.gsu.edu/~wwwpsy/NBNProg.htm>

Georgia Tech's NeuroLab, a joint doctoral degree between Emory's Neuroscience Department and GA Tech's Biomedical Engineering Department:
<http://www.neuro.gatech.edu/join.html>

For more information about the Forum and to RSVP:

Phone: 404.966.1487

Email: gsuneuroscience@gmail.com

Directions:

<http://www.arts.emory.edu/village/index.html#white>

Parking:

Emory faculty/staff parking lots are free after 5 p.m.